

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETINGS.
OPPOSED TO TWO BILLS NOW BEFORE CONGRESS—
COMMISSIONER DUNCAN'S DISAPPOINTMENT.

The Chamber of Commerce held two special meetings yesterday, at both of which George W. Lane presided. At the first meeting, the committee appointed to review two bills now pending in Congress, one of which provides for the establishment of a Bureau of Marine and Naval Affairs, and the other for the administration of the Revenue Cutter Service to the Army Department. The report was in the form of resolutions, which were adopted by a large majority. The second meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce, and was attended by a large number of members. The committee reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed. The committee also reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

A half dozen members jumped to their feet at this point and repeatedly called "Question." A question was asked by one of the members, and the committee was asked to report on the matter. The committee reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed. The committee also reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

After considerable angry talk between some other members, Mr. Parker's resolution was decided upon. The committee reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed. The committee also reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

Several of the members made a motion to adjourn and began putting on their overcoats. The committee reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed. The committee also reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

After making some inquiries he learned that the body was not in the city. The committee reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed. The committee also reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

The police of Long Island City have made two arrests in connection with the highway robbery and assault committed upon A. L. Luccas, a butcher living and doing business at Astoria. The robbery occurred on the night of September 3, 1882. He had the receipts of his store in his pocket at the time, and was carrying a large sum of money. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

Mr. Elliott's obliging wife. Alexander Elliott, age thirty-seven, of 153 West-st., who is a well-known fishman, was taken to the Tombs Police Court yesterday by Officer Monahan, of the Sixth Precinct, to answer a charge of having abducted Mary Sullivan, a girl of about fifteen years of age, who was found in the possession of a young man named Elliott. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

James Shea, a junk dealer, No. 65 Park-st., who was on parole on a charge of robbing the drivers of the village to have been taken from the house of Mrs. William Pond, of Stamford, was yesterday rearrested by virtue of a warrant issued by the Tombs Police Court. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

THE CASE OF JOHN H. MOORE.

THE ACCUSED FERRYMASTER HELD IN $500 BAIL—
HIS BANK BOOKS KEPT FROM HIM.

John H. Moore, the ferryman in the employ of the New York and Brooklyn Ferry Company, who was arrested on Wednesday on the charge of embezzling the company's funds, was taken yesterday afternoon to the Essex Market Police Court. He was in custody of Captain Connelley, of the Thirteenth Precinct, and Detectors Pierce and Kelly. He was taken to the court by a private car, where he remained with his mother and several friends until the case was called. His brother, a police officer, was also present. The case was called at 10 o'clock, and the judge, Judge Connelley, asked the prisoner if he had anything to say in his own defense. He said that he had nothing to say, and that he was ready to accept the charge against him. The judge then asked the prisoner if he had anything to say in his own defense. He said that he had nothing to say, and that he was ready to accept the charge against him.

Colonel Spencer moved to dismiss the complaint on the ground that the affidavit in itself was not sufficient to support the charge. The judge asked the prisoner if he had anything to say in his own defense. He said that he had nothing to say, and that he was ready to accept the charge against him. The judge then asked the prisoner if he had anything to say in his own defense. He said that he had nothing to say, and that he was ready to accept the charge against him.

Colonel Spencer asked that the article taken from the prisoner be returned to him, and $100 be paid for the prisoner's release. The judge asked the prisoner if he had anything to say in his own defense. He said that he had nothing to say, and that he was ready to accept the charge against him. The judge then asked the prisoner if he had anything to say in his own defense. He said that he had nothing to say, and that he was ready to accept the charge against him.

A general alarm was sent out by Superintendent Walling, yesterday afternoon, to search for a girl described as "nine years old, large for her age and stout, with blonde hair and dark blue eyes." She was a gray dress and under, and a scarlet cloak. On the night of the 17th, she was seen running away from her home on Tuesday night, and was seen running away from her home on Tuesday night, and was seen running away from her home on Tuesday night.

Information was given at Police Headquarters yesterday of the disappearance of Charles Brown, a bookkeeper in a hardware store, who was seen running away from his home on Tuesday night, and was seen running away from his home on Tuesday night, and was seen running away from his home on Tuesday night.

John Sewall, a colored man, who gave his age as thirty years, but who looks much younger, was tried yesterday in the Court of General Sessions on the charge of assaulting Policeman Charles L. Alton. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

Although the streets were in a terrible condition yesterday, there were a great many people out enjoying the delightful spring atmosphere. Carriages rolled through the melting snow, while the occupants looked down on their less fortunate sisters, who were carefully picked their way over puddles and over piles of ice, thrown in the way by the day and night traffic. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

Between forty and fifty weavers in the silk mills of Hamlet and Booth, one of the largest concerns of the kind in Paterson, N. J., were yesterday adopted about a week ago, by which one weaver was given two looms to mind. The weavers reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

HOME NEWS.

PROMINENT ARRIVALS.

Grand Central Hotel—Senator-elect A. H. Colquhoun, of Georgia, arrived yesterday morning. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

WHAT IS GOING ON TO-DAY.
Water Supply Commissioners' conference in Mayor's office. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

NEW-YORK CITY.
"Quinn Church Lane" is the melodious name of a laundryman on the East Side. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

NOT RECORDED BY THE CLERK REFORMATORY.
Detective-Sergeant Farley yesterday caught a pickpocket in the act of stealing a watch from the pocket of Herman Jacobs, of No. 114 Canino-st. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

COMMISSIONER MATTHEWS MADE A NIGHT OF IT.
Police Commissioner Matthews visited most of the stations of the city on Wednesday night. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

SEVEN YEARS FOR AN ASSAULT.
Edward Woodson, with three companions, all colored men, became engaged in a fight with Henry Anderson, one of the party, was severely cut with a knife, and Woodson was arrested. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

NOTABLE TO PROVE HIS CHARGES.
Henry Meyer, of No. 2,253 First-ave.; Robert Reilly, Andrew Williams and Dennis Lawler, of Nos. 2,184, 2,371 and 1,011 Third-ave., were taken to the Court of General Sessions on the charge of assaulting Policeman Charles L. Alton. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

THE REGULAR WINTER MEETING OF THE ALUMNI OF THE SOCIETY OF PHI BETA KAPPA WAS HELD LAST EVENING AT NO. 22 WEST BETHURST PLACE. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

FIFTY-FIVE PERSONS ARE BEING EXAMINED FOR TEACHERS' CERTIFICATES BY THE BOARD OF EDUCATION. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

PROSTHETIC DENTISTRY.

GOOD WORDS FROM PATIENTS AND THE DENTAL PROFESSION.

Articles have recently appeared in the newspapers of this city calculated to prejudice the public against the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. So long as these attacks were of a personal nature, giving evidence only of that jealousy which always manifests itself when an unusual success rewards the energy and ability of some one who has dared step aside from the ancient way of doing things, we regarded them as unworthy of notice, and therefore passed them by in silence. But, thanks to the persistent efforts of some of our contemporaries in this city, the subject has become one of public interest, and we now propose to say a few words concerning our own business and its relations to the general practice of dentistry.

With but comparatively few and marked exceptions the dental profession are eager to adopt new methods of practice, admitting them to be greatly in advance of anything heretofore offered for the restoration of lost or badly decayed teeth. It is also worthy of note that in all of the articles above alluded to no mention is made of our greatest and most valuable invention, viz., our Crown extension, or bridge-work, by means of which a full set of teeth may be inserted, WITHOUT A PLATE, upon only four firm, healthy roots. NEITHER IS THERE ANY CRITICISM ON THE QUALITY OF OUR WORK. IT IS EVERYWHERE PRONOUNCED BEAUTIFUL BEYOND ANYTHING HERETOFORE PRODUCED IN MECHANICAL OR OPERATIVE DENTISTRY.

WHAT WE ADVERTISE.
There has been perfected in our institution during the past two years an invention which is capable of doing more for humanity in alleviating suffering and bringing comfort to those who are afflicted with painful mouths and diseased dental organs, than all other operations in dentistry combined. If we had given the public no information concerning this work, how would it have been possible that eight thousand of these beautiful operations should have been performed during the past year? It was the only way in which we could bring before the public an invention which is an advance of fifty years at one step in the practice of dentistry; and an invention against which the profession have brought no criticism except that it requires too great a sacrifice of the part of the dentist to successfully perform this operation.

WHAT THE DENTISTS SAY.
We have space for only a few extracts from the letters and reports of the meetings of dental societies. The letters are selected from hundreds written by the most eminent dentists in the profession. The public should keep in mind that these testimonials were written by some of the most prominent dentists in the profession, and that they have not been thought of, and all of our work has been brought to a much higher degree of perfection since that time. The originals are in our possession and can be shown any one who may desire to see them.

DR. KINGLEY. "Certainly perfect."
In the Dental Cosmos for May, 1879, is a report of the meeting of the New York Odontological Society, at which meeting Dr. W. C. Kingley, of New York, made an interesting address on the subject of the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

DR. ALLEN. "Of great value."
A student of the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. of this city, wrote as follows: "This will introduce to you in propria persona Dr. Richmond, of New York, a man of great power and artistic crown authority. I bespeak for him your favorable consideration and attention. For myself, I am most ardent in the great value of his invention, and I am quite certain you will join with me in saying that you have an opportunity of judging of their merit. In my own mouth, I have two most comfortable specimens of his handiwork."

DR. AMBLER. "Can fully endorse."
Dr. J. A. Ambler, of this city, wrote: "This will introduce to you my friend, Dr. C. M. Richmond, who is a specialist, which specialty he will explain to you, and I can fully endorse what he can show you in his own mouth, having a specimen of his handiwork in my own mouth, which is as perfect as anything artificial can be."

DR. L. EATON. "Can fully endorse."
In my office, I emphatically pronounce the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. to be the best of all. No dentist should fail to have my method of mounting crowns."

DR. A. W. FREEMAN. "Have no equal."
"DEAR DOCTOR RICHMOND: I came, I saw, but you conquered. Your method of gold and silver restorations, in all its simplicity and durability, has no equal. I rejoice in this invention of yours, which enables us to so completely restore failing teeth to full human function. It is worthy, and writes you the noble name of Benefactor."

PROSTHETIC DENTISTRY.

GOOD WORDS FROM PATIENTS AND THE DENTAL PROFESSION.

Articles have recently appeared in the newspapers of this city calculated to prejudice the public against the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. So long as these attacks were of a personal nature, giving evidence only of that jealousy which always manifests itself when an unusual success rewards the energy and ability of some one who has dared step aside from the ancient way of doing things, we regarded them as unworthy of notice, and therefore passed them by in silence. But, thanks to the persistent efforts of some of our contemporaries in this city, the subject has become one of public interest, and we now propose to say a few words concerning our own business and its relations to the general practice of dentistry.

With but comparatively few and marked exceptions the dental profession are eager to adopt new methods of practice, admitting them to be greatly in advance of anything heretofore offered for the restoration of lost or badly decayed teeth. It is also worthy of note that in all of the articles above alluded to no mention is made of our greatest and most valuable invention, viz., our Crown extension, or bridge-work, by means of which a full set of teeth may be inserted, WITHOUT A PLATE, upon only four firm, healthy roots. NEITHER IS THERE ANY CRITICISM ON THE QUALITY OF OUR WORK. IT IS EVERYWHERE PRONOUNCED BEAUTIFUL BEYOND ANYTHING HERETOFORE PRODUCED IN MECHANICAL OR OPERATIVE DENTISTRY.

WHAT WE ADVERTISE.
There has been perfected in our institution during the past two years an invention which is capable of doing more for humanity in alleviating suffering and bringing comfort to those who are afflicted with painful mouths and diseased dental organs, than all other operations in dentistry combined. If we had given the public no information concerning this work, how would it have been possible that eight thousand of these beautiful operations should have been performed during the past year? It was the only way in which we could bring before the public an invention which is an advance of fifty years at one step in the practice of dentistry; and an invention against which the profession have brought no criticism except that it requires too great a sacrifice of the part of the dentist to successfully perform this operation.

WHAT THE DENTISTS SAY.
We have space for only a few extracts from the letters and reports of the meetings of dental societies. The letters are selected from hundreds written by the most eminent dentists in the profession. The public should keep in mind that these testimonials were written by some of the most prominent dentists in the profession, and that they have not been thought of, and all of our work has been brought to a much higher degree of perfection since that time. The originals are in our possession and can be shown any one who may desire to see them.

DR. KINGLEY. "Certainly perfect."
In the Dental Cosmos for May, 1879, is a report of the meeting of the New York Odontological Society, at which meeting Dr. W. C. Kingley, of New York, made an interesting address on the subject of the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

DR. ALLEN. "Of great value."
A student of the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. of this city, wrote as follows: "This will introduce to you in propria persona Dr. Richmond, of New York, a man of great power and artistic crown authority. I bespeak for him your favorable consideration and attention. For myself, I am most ardent in the great value of his invention, and I am quite certain you will join with me in saying that you have an opportunity of judging of their merit. In my own mouth, I have two most comfortable specimens of his handiwork."

DR. AMBLER. "Can fully endorse."
Dr. J. A. Ambler, of this city, wrote: "This will introduce to you my friend, Dr. C. M. Richmond, who is a specialist, which specialty he will explain to you, and I can fully endorse what he can show you in his own mouth, having a specimen of his handiwork in my own mouth, which is as perfect as anything artificial can be."

DR. L. EATON. "Can fully endorse."
In my office, I emphatically pronounce the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. to be the best of all. No dentist should fail to have my method of mounting crowns."

DR. A. W. FREEMAN. "Have no equal."
"DEAR DOCTOR RICHMOND: I came, I saw, but you conquered. Your method of gold and silver restorations, in all its simplicity and durability, has no equal. I rejoice in this invention of yours, which enables us to so completely restore failing teeth to full human function. It is worthy, and writes you the noble name of Benefactor."

PROSTHETIC DENTISTRY.

GOOD WORDS FROM PATIENTS AND THE DENTAL PROFESSION.

Articles have recently appeared in the newspapers of this city calculated to prejudice the public against the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. So long as these attacks were of a personal nature, giving evidence only of that jealousy which always manifests itself when an unusual success rewards the energy and ability of some one who has dared step aside from the ancient way of doing things, we regarded them as unworthy of notice, and therefore passed them by in silence. But, thanks to the persistent efforts of some of our contemporaries in this city, the subject has become one of public interest, and we now propose to say a few words concerning our own business and its relations to the general practice of dentistry.

With but comparatively few and marked exceptions the dental profession are eager to adopt new methods of practice, admitting them to be greatly in advance of anything heretofore offered for the restoration of lost or badly decayed teeth. It is also worthy of note that in all of the articles above alluded to no mention is made of our greatest and most valuable invention, viz., our Crown extension, or bridge-work, by means of which a full set of teeth may be inserted, WITHOUT A PLATE, upon only four firm, healthy roots. NEITHER IS THERE ANY CRITICISM ON THE QUALITY OF OUR WORK. IT IS EVERYWHERE PRONOUNCED BEAUTIFUL BEYOND ANYTHING HERETOFORE PRODUCED IN MECHANICAL OR OPERATIVE DENTISTRY.

WHAT WE ADVERTISE.
There has been perfected in our institution during the past two years an invention which is capable of doing more for humanity in alleviating suffering and bringing comfort to those who are afflicted with painful mouths and diseased dental organs, than all other operations in dentistry combined. If we had given the public no information concerning this work, how would it have been possible that eight thousand of these beautiful operations should have been performed during the past year? It was the only way in which we could bring before the public an invention which is an advance of fifty years at one step in the practice of dentistry; and an invention against which the profession have brought no criticism except that it requires too great a sacrifice of the part of the dentist to successfully perform this operation.

WHAT THE DENTISTS SAY.
We have space for only a few extracts from the letters and reports of the meetings of dental societies. The letters are selected from hundreds written by the most eminent dentists in the profession. The public should keep in mind that these testimonials were written by some of the most prominent dentists in the profession, and that they have not been thought of, and all of our work has been brought to a much higher degree of perfection since that time. The originals are in our possession and can be shown any one who may desire to see them.

DR. KINGLEY. "Certainly perfect."
In the Dental Cosmos for May, 1879, is a report of the meeting of the New York Odontological Society, at which meeting Dr. W. C. Kingley, of New York, made an interesting address on the subject of the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. The police reported that they had been unable to secure the necessary support for the bills, and that they were therefore disappointed.

DR. ALLEN. "Of great value."
A student of the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. of this city, wrote as follows: "This will introduce to you in propria persona Dr. Richmond, of New York, a man of great power and artistic crown authority. I bespeak for him your favorable consideration and attention. For myself, I am most ardent in the great value of his invention, and I am quite certain you will join with me in saying that you have an opportunity of judging of their merit. In my own mouth, I have two most comfortable specimens of his handiwork."

DR. AMBLER. "Can fully endorse."
Dr. J. A. Ambler, of this city, wrote: "This will introduce to you my friend, Dr. C. M. Richmond, who is a specialist, which specialty he will explain to you, and I can fully endorse what he can show you in his own mouth, having a specimen of his handiwork in my own mouth, which is as perfect as anything artificial can be."

DR. L. EATON. "Can fully endorse."
In my office, I emphatically pronounce the Richmond Tooth Crown Co. to be the best of all. No dentist should fail to have my method of mounting crowns."

DR. A. W. FREEMAN. "Have no equal."
"DEAR DOCTOR RICHMOND: I came, I saw, but you conquered. Your method of gold and silver restorations, in all its simplicity and durability, has no equal. I rejoice in this invention of yours, which enables us to so completely restore failing teeth to full human function. It is worthy, and writes you the noble name of Benefactor."